

Dear Participants,

Good morning/afternoon/evening ! I am delighted to welcome you all to the 1st International Conference on Health and Biological Science (ICHBS 2024), an esteemed gathering of experts, researchers, and practitioners from around the globe. Hosted by Universitas Harapan Bangsa, this conference is a proud addition to the International Conference on Community Health series.

Taking place at the Java Heritage Hotel, Purwokerto, Indonesia, on October 8–9, 2024, this inaugural event offers a unique platform to explore groundbreaking insights and advancements in Biology, Food Science, Life Sciences, and Health. It is a wonderful opportunity to foster collaboration, exchange ideas, and spark innovation in addressing critical challenges within these fields.

The theme of this year's conference, "Sustainable Innovations at The Intersection of Biology, Food, and Health" provides a powerful foundation for discussing transformative ideas and creating impactful solutions. Set in a region rich in culture and tradition, this event promises to inspire and ignite fresh perspectives in health and biological sciences.

I am very honored to be part of this gathering of brilliant minds, and your participation is a testament to the spirit of global collaboration and innovation. Together, let us contribute to meaningful discussions and drive progress for a better future.

Committee Chairperson

Etika Dewi Cahyaningrum